It was such a rewarding experience for both the alumni and our students.

Such as book exhibition, Inter-Chamber Religious Q & A Competition, and band show. During the OLE period on the 1st April, it was our pleasure to have invited Artist Mr. Eric Ng to perform religious painting accompany with a touching Gospel Drama. It was a week of Love and Hope.

Green week used to be one of our fruitful weeks in the year. ### Alumni Sharing

Tsang Sz Chai, Iris 曾思儕 (Graduate of 2012)

Iris is studying psychology in City University of Hong Kong. She is busy finishing her psychology research and conducting a survey to different people. She is as keen on extra-curricular activity in university as she was in A-school. She becomes the colleague mentor who provides consultation to mentees in different aspects like studying, choosing activities. Compared to the school life in A-school, Iris has a more flexible schedule so she can plan her time according to her own academic preference. She thinks that self-discipline is very important to students at university. She also participated in a Joint-U programme called “Interschool Psychology Festival” and she was responsible in promoting work for a psychology camp. This experience gave her the invaluable opportunity to be more mature. What Iris misses A-school the most is the time spent with her schoolmates and teachers. She really misses all those teachers who cared for her. She used to think that was annoying but now she realizes it is difficult to have such close teacher-student relationship in university

Iris has many new try in U life. One of them is holding a fair in Victoria Park during Chinese New year.
